EXTRA SESSION OPENS; HARDING SPEAKS TODAY ON SHIP BILL

Congress Adjourns Out of Respect for Dead—Mrs. Felton's Case Delayed.

GIVEN GREAT OVATION

By ROBERT M. GINTER.
The Gazette Times Bureau,
47 Post Building.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The extra session of the Sixty-seventh Congress, called by President Harding two weeks in advance of the regular session, convened at noon today and in less than an hour adjourned until tomorrow. The way was paved for the appearance of the President before a joint session between 12 and 1 o'clock tomorrow, when the executive will deliver his message urging passage of the bill for a ship subsidy in the interest of an American merchant marine. The outcome of the ship subsidy fight is uncertain, but it is expected to have smoother sailing in the House than in the Senate.

Historic customs of the opening of a new session were re-enacted today in both House and Senate and the regular preliminaries were gone through in brief routine meetings. Adjournment followed as a mark of respect to the late Senator Watson of Georgia, and the late Representative Nolan of California.

Mrs. Felton Not Sworn In.

When the Senate convened the galleries and corridors were packed and jammed with hundreds of persons attracted to the Capitol in the hope of witnessing Mrs. W. H. Felton take the oath of office as Senator from Georgia, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Watson. The gray-haired woman, aged 87, was on hand with her commission from Gov. T. W. Hardwick.

But the oath was not administered, due to the failure of Vice-President Coolidge and the Senate leaders to decide whether she was entitled to the seat, as Judge Walter F. George, chosen by the people in the November election as the Watson successor, also was in the Capitol with a similar commission. Failure of Mrs. Felton to take the oath was not due to opposition on the part of the Republican leaders or of Judge George, but with her induction into office there would be established a precedent which might have an important bearing in the future.

Mrs. Felton, by reason of her appointment, had the rare distinction

70 LOST ON STEAMER IN GULF OF CALIFORNIA

Ship Broken In Two by Wall of Water 20 Feet High; 24 Reported Saved.

[By Associated Press to Gazette Times.]

CALEXICO, CAL., Nov. 20.—Seventy persons lost their lives in the sinking of the steamer Topolobampo in the Gulf of California, near the mouth of the Colorado River early yesterday, according to reports of the disaster which reached here today.

Late last night but two bodies had been recovered, a woman with a child hugged to her breast. Others were expected to be found at low tide this afternoon. Twenty-four survivors, including nine women and six children, are on their way to Mexicali, Lower California. The Topolobampo, a craft of 36 tons displacement, went down when broken in two in the middle by a wall of water 20 feet high which followed the tide from the river.

The steamer Mexicali, inbound from Guaymas, was called by wireless from La Bomba, nearest port to the scene of the wreck, and went to the rescue, saving several persons. The greater number of the lost are believed to have been women and children.

OLAF BUYS TROLLEY BUT GETS NO FARES

Swede Immigrant Gives $100, His Roll, to Stranger for Interurban Car.

THEN VENDOR DISAPPEARS

[By Associated Press to Gazette Times.]

SECAUCUS, N. J., Nov. 20.—When a trolley car of the Public Service Corporation passed through here on its way from Passaic to Hoboken today a tow-haired six-footer swung aboard and casually informed the conductor: "You can turn over the fares to me. I just bought this car."

After a short, but decisive argument, the passenger arose from the mud beside the track and sought the police. He said he was Olaf Jansen, a recent arrival from Sweden. He carried his savings with him, he said, so he was able to pay cash when a prosperous looking stranger who sat beside him on the same car, offered to sell it to him for $100.

The stranger told Jansen he had cleaned up $200,000 on the eight-cent fare basis. They got off here to complete the deal. The stranger then disappeared after directing Jansen to board the car on its return trip and just tell the conductor he was the new owner.

Director Charles A. The form, from which an ordinance will be drafted, together with a report from Director Finley, calling special attention to some of the provisions of the proposed legislation, were referred to the Public Works Committee for discussion today.

It is understood the entire cost of the improvements is to be borne by the railroad company. While no estimate of the financial outlay is given in the agreement form, it was said the improvements will require the major portion of the $8,000,000 which the directorate of the railroad last April authorized the expenditure of in the Pittsburgh area, as announced then by Col. J. A. McCrea, vice president of the road's Central Region, which extends from Altoona on the east, to Columbus and Mansfield, O., on the west.

Improvements Contemplated.

The plans submitted yesterday call for the relocation of Grant street, from Seventh avenue to Liberty avenue; the relocation of Liberty avenue, from Eleventh street to Seventeenth street; the widening of the Try street tunnel, connecting the Pennsylvania Station with the Fourth Avenue Station; the construction of two new tunnels and the erection of a new freight station in the vicinity of Magee, Boyd, Forbes and Watson streets, and also extensive improvements of the passenger terminal facilities.

WINDMILL NEW DANCE IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 2.—(Universal Service.)—The "windmill dance" is the latest thing to take Paris by storm. It is advocated by Dr. Paul Lenard as "the best exercise ever invented for the development of the female figure."

The new creation is danced to slow shimmy time. The partners clutch hands and advance with a variation of the foxtrot step, at the same time working the arms forward and back alternately so as to give a circular motion to the shoulders. It is very graceful when properly danced and the experts claim it is the first really new thing in dancing since the invention of the one-step.

BIRD OF ILL OMEN VISITS MILLERAND

PARIS, Nov. 20.—(Special Cable.)—If President Millerand is superstitious he can hardly escape feeling some of the disagreeable emotion at the appearance of a certain famous raven in the gardens of the Elysee Palace—a bird which for 150 years has heralded catastrophe to the chief of state each time it has been seen.

Saturday, towards sundown, an old gardener saw it perched on a sycamore limb in the President's grounds. Recognizing it by its unusual gray plumage, the aged servant immediately reported the fact. Each time it is seen, the apparition is followed by some sort of catastrophe or accident, the victim of which is usually the head of the state.

NEVILLE ISLAND FIRE FATAL TO ONE MAN

Two Buildings Destroyed and Five Others Damaged—Other Towns Help.

One man is known to be dead and property loss of $50,000 resulted in a fire last night that completely destroyed two buildings and damaged five others in Neville Island.

The man was taken from the ruins of one of the buildings, burned beyond recognition. The two-story frame houses of Carl Lieberman and Harry Napshaw in Grand street, near Second street, were burned to the ground and the dwelling of B. Weisman, adjoining them was badly damaged.

The flames communicated with buildings across the street occupied by C. H. Ferry, Frank Seltzer, John Helmmer and B. Weisman, but were checked after burning the fronts of the houses.

The volunteer fire company of Neville Island was at a fire which started earlier in the evening in Coraopolis and the company from Stowe township answered the first call of the fire siren.

A call was sent for more apparatus and companies responded from Sewickley, Emsworth, Coraopolis and McKees Rocks.

Most of the fire-fighting was done with chemical engines, as there are only two fire hydrants on the island.

Electric light and power wires were down and street car service to Neville Island was suspended.

SEATTLE, WASH., Nov. 20.—(A. P.)—News that an engagement for her to sing in Los Angeles, December 11, had been canceled on the ground that she was pro-German during the World War was received here with tears by Mme. Johanna Gadski.

"Jealousy is at the bottom of this," Mme. Gadski said. "I was America's guest during the war, and conducted myself the best I could during that trying period." A story Mme. Gadski toasted the Kaiser, after the sinking of the Lusitania, was declared by her to be as "ridiculous as others."

Trail Leads South.

Late today the trail of the kidnapers was found to lead south, through Brownsville, toward Clarksburg, W. Va. The father was at Mt. Clair, W. Va., where the operations of the Savaria Coal Company of which he is president, are located. He was notified and hastened to Clarksburg, the police of both states being asked by P. TWO CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH IN HOME

[Special Telegram to The Gazette Times.]

MONONGAHELA, PA., Nov. 20.—Two children were burned to death and their home was destroyed by fire today when their mother, Mrs. Yurgaidis, left the house to go to a store at Garfield Hill.

Yurgaidis, a miner at the Cincinnati mine at Garfield Hill, had left home for work and Mrs. Yurgaidis, needing supplies, locked the two children in the house and went to the store. Soon after she had left neighbors saw smoke pouring from the house. An attempt to gain entrance to the house in time to rescue the children failed.

For a time it was feared two other children were victims of the fire, but it was found they had gone to school. The victims were Anthony Yurgaidis, aged 4, and Ignatz Yurgaidis, aged 2.

PASTOR DIES OF HEART FAILURE AS FIRE RAZES CHURCH AND RECTORY

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Nov. 20.—(Special.)—Heart failure, caused by excitement when he saw his church and rectory on fire at 3 o'clock this morning, caused the Rev. Ladislaus Vadkerty, aged 38, of the Polish Catholic Church of Hornerville, near here, to fall dead in front of the rectory door. He had discovered the fire in the rectory and started to carry out some of his books when he saw the church burning and fell dead. The church and rectory were destroyed, causing a loss of $12,500. NEW GERMAN CABINET COMPLETED AT LAST

Cuno Succeeds In Forming Government With Several Holdover Members.

[By Associated Press to Gazette Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—Wilhelm Cuno is Germany's fifteenth chancellor and the first nonpartisan non-parliamentary holder of that post in the new republic. He has succeeded in forming his new cabinet, but announcement of its members will not be made officially until tomorrow.

It was indicated tonight, however, that among the hold-overs will be Andreas Hermes, minister of finance; Dr. Heinrich Brauns, labor; Dr. O. Gessler, defense, and Gen. Wilhelm Groener, transportation.

The United Socialists were noncommittal about their prospective attitude respecting the Cuno ministry, saying: "We must first see the new government program."

The Reichstag adjourned until Thursday to give the new ministry an opportunity for organization. The new chancellor is not required to demand an inaugural vote of confidence, but has the privilege of resting his case on the mere presentation of his program.

The government enters office with a pronounced strategic advantage, because the recent German note on reparations will also constitute a platform for internal reforms sanctioned by the middle parties and the Socialists, while its distinctive features concerning reparations have the approval of the Nationalists.

SCHOOLS BROKE, REMAIN CLOSED

WEST FRANKFORT, ILL., Nov. 20.—(A. P.)—The public elementary schools in this district, closed since September because of lack of funds to pay teachers, will remain closed as the result of failure of citizens to reach an agreement on the situation today. Thirty-five hundred children are affected.

The teachers walked out following the defeat at a local election of a proposed bond issue of $84,000, which was to have been used in paying their salaries. A similar proposed issue had been defeated previously.

NEW STAR WITNESS IN JERSEY MURDERS IS FOUND BY STATE

Letter, Protesting Against Mrs. Gibson's Activities for Prosecution, Reveals George Sipel, "Pig Man," Was at Scene at Time of Tragedy. Grand Jury Hears 12 Witnesses.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette Times.]

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 20.—As a startling climax to the first session of the grand jury, which today delved into the mass of evidence surrounding the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choristor, Mrs. Eleanor Rheinhardt Mills, detectives announced tonight they had discovered a new witness, whose testimony might overshadow in importance that of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig-woman."

Strangely enough, this new witness, whose name is George Sipel, is known to his farmer-neighbors in Middlebush as "the pig-man." The particular episode of the tragedy which, officials say, he witnessed, will put him in the position of corroborating the testimony of the "pig-woman," according to the detectives.

"Pig Man" Star Witness.

That Sipel would be a star witness before the grand jury has been known to officials in the case for days, they declared tonight. That his name comes up at this time, they say, is the result of a letter, attributed to Sipel's wife, and appearing in a New Brunswick paper, while the grand jury still was in its first session.

The letter constituted an attack on Mrs. Gibson for bringing Sipel's name into the case, and stated that the "Pig-woman" sought to enmesh him as a witness to substantiate her eyewitness story of the murders.

Sipel did see certain of the events of the DeRussey's lane tragedy the night of the murders, the officials now disclose. His business is similar to that of Mrs. Gibson.

After the Hall-Mills tragedy, Sipel confided certain things to a friend, John Garry, who told Mrs. Gibson. Mrs. Gibson told the authorities, and that's how, said the latter, Sipel's story was obtained.

Sipel Saw Something.

According to these officials, Sipel, driving toward New Brunswick the night of September 14, turned from

FIRE DESTROYS 11 BUILDINGS OF FOUNDRY FIRM

$1,000,000 Damage Done to Duquesne Steel Concern Plant at Kendall.

OIL SPREADS FLAMES

Virtually the entire plant of the Duquesne Steel Foundry Company, occupying 20 acres along the Ohio River at Kendall, near Coraopolis, was destroyed by fire which raged for more than five hours last night, unchecked by the combined efforts of fire departments from seven surrounding towns. Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, when the flames were declared under control, only two of the 13 buildings were standing. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

The blaze started in a pattern shop of steel and wood construction and, fed by the wood shavings from the lathes, spread rapidly. In less than 10 minutes after it was discovered it communicated to a tank containing 25,000 gallons of oil and the blazing fuel was scattered about the remaining buildings.

Outside Help Called.

Local firemen were unable to cope with the flames, and calls for aid were sent to Pittsburgh, Beaver, Ambridge, Fair Oaks, Coraopolis, Sewickley and Bellevue. Water was pumped from the river. Long lines of hose were necessary.

A high wind added to the destruc-

NO CABINET MEMBERS NAMED, PINCHOT SAYS

Not a Single Post Yet Offered, Governor-Elect Says—Will Take Time.

[By Associated Press to Gazette Times.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Gov.-elect Pinchot in a formal statement issued tonight said he had not decided on a single cabinet appointment nor had any person been asked to accept such a position.

The statement reads:

"Naturally enough, the newspapers are full of rumors concerning cabinet appointments under the next administration. As a matter of fact with the exception of the appointment of the secretary of the Governor which I announced the day of election, not a single appointment has been decided upon, nor has any person been asked to accept any position.

"Everyone of these positions is of great importance. Therefore I propose to take all the time that may be necessary to decide wisely. When a cabinet appointment is decided upon, and has been offered and accepted, I will myself at once make the announcement to the newspapers. In the meantime it may be well to remember that no one is authorized to speak for me and that no announcement except my own will be authentic."

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(Special.)—By a photograph of her dead mother, which she carried in her locket, Francesca Licata, aged 14, was identified by her father on Ellis Island today.

Fidele Licata had not seen his daughter since she was an infant in her mother's arms. He left Italy 13 years ago, came to America, worked hard in the steel mills, laid aside a competence and became an American citizen.

The name on the passport caused Francesca to be delivered officially to her father. But he was dubious, saying:

"How do I know she is my child? I would like to be sure."

The attractive little dark-eyed signorina handed her father the picture of her mother, dead 12 years. He took his daughter to his home at Vandergrift Heights, Pa.

He was taken to a nearby physician's office, where the wound, which was slight, was dressed. Police at the Center Avenue Station notified Joseph Renko, of 24 Congress street, owner of the dog, to keep the animal tied for 10 days.

EAGER SALVAGERS WADE IN ICY LAKE FOR WRECK'S DRIFTING LIQUOR CARGO

Motor Cars Line Shore to Haul Away Reclaimed Canadian Whisky.

CAPTAIN'S SON DROWNS

[By Associated Press to Gazette Times.]

SIMCOE, ONT., Nov. 20.—Above the wave-tossed beach, near Port Rowan, on Lake Erie, where the steamer City of Dresden went aground and was abandoned with its cargo of 500 cases of Canadian whisky Saturday afternoon, a line of motor cars waited today, while their occupants waded out into the icy waters to fish for bottles of liquor.

The ship, which was condemned 20 years ago, when her captain, J. S. McQueen, of Amherstburg, bought and refitted her, broke up rapidly and hundreds of bottles of whisky dirfted to shore where gangs of men gathered them up and carried them to waiting cars.

It was learned today, that Capt. McQueen's son was drowned while trying to assist another member of the crew when the ship was abandoned. The vessel was on its way to Port Huron when a violent storm came up, and battered a bad leak in the ship's hull which rapidly filled with water.

The captain tried to beach the vessel but, he said today, the undercurrent several times defeated his purpose, so small boats were launched and the five surviving members of the crew managed to reach shore.
